STEP THREE: TAKE SOME TIME TO EDUCATE YOURSELF

What is Forex Trading?

Forex trading, also known as foreign exchange trading, is a decentralized global market where currencies are traded between buyers and sellers. The market is open 24 hours a day, five days a week, with trading sessions opening in different time zones around the world.

The forex market is the largest financial market in the world, with an average daily turnover of over $5 trillion, and it operates on a vast scale that dwarfs other financial markets such as the stock market. Forex trading involves buying one currency with another currency in the hopes of selling it later at a higher price. Traders speculate on the movements in exchange rates between different currency pairs, attempting to predict and profit from fluctuations by analyzing market data and using technical analysis and fundamental analysis techniques.

Forex trading provides a range of benefits to traders, including high liquidity, low transaction costs, and the ability to trade 24 hours a day, which makes it a popular market for traders around the world. The forex market operates in a decentralized manner, meaning there is no central exchange or clearinghouse, and transactions are conducted electronically between participants. This makes it easier for traders to enter and exit positions quickly, without being subject to the constraints of a centralized market.

However, forex trading also carries a significant risk of loss, and traders should always have a solid risk management strategy in place. The exchange rate between currencies is constantly changing due to a variety of economic and political factors, including interest rates, inflation, geopolitical events, and market sentiment. Traders must be able to analyze and interpret these factors to make informed trading decisions, which can involve using technical indicators, chart patterns, and other tools to identify potential trading opportunities.

Account Types Explained

*100% Bonus Account

Our 100% bonus account is a type of trading account that we offer to our clients that provides you with a bonus equal to 100% of the initial deposit made into your Vault Markets account. For example, if you deposit $1,000 into a 100% bonus account, we will provide an additional $1,000 as a bonus, making the total account balance $2,000 allowing you to trade with more funds.

*200% Bonus Account

We offer our clients a 200% bonus account, a type of trading account that provides a bonus equal to 200% of your initial deposit into your Vault Markets account. For instance, if you deposit $1,000 into a 200% bonus account, we will add an extra $2,000 as a bonus, making your total account balance $3,000. This bonus provides traders with additional trading capital that they can use to open larger positions or trade more frequently.

*No Bonus Account

A no bonus account is a type of trading account that we offer that does not provide you with any bonus funds. Instead, you receive only the amount of money that you have deposited into the account, with no additional bonus funds or trading credits.

The purpose of a no bonus account is to provide you with more flexibility and control over your trading, as they are not subject to any terms and conditions related to bonus funds or trading credits.

While no bonus accounts may be less lucrative in terms of initial account funding, they may be more appealing to traders who prioritize transparency and flexibility in their trading.

*Islamic / Swap Free Account

An Islamic or Swap-Free Account is a type of trading account that we offer that is compliant with Islamic Shariah law. According to Shariah law, earning or paying interest (known as "Riba" in Arabic) is prohibited. This means that standard forex trading accounts that charge or pay overnight interest on positions held open past 24 hours may not be suitable for Muslim traders who wish to follow Islamic principles.

A swap-free account offers an alternative solution for Muslim traders by eliminating the overnight interest fees. Instead of charging or paying interest, the broker may charge a fixed administration fee, which is agreed upon in advance and does not change based on the length of time a position is held open. This administration fee is considered a service charge and is acceptable under Shariah law.

*100% Micro Bonus Account

A 100% micro bonus account is a type of trading account that offers you the opportunity to trade with a bonus equal to your deposit. Micro bonus accounts are designed to encourage you to start trading with a smaller amount of money and to help you gain experience in the market without risking too much of their own funds.

*200% Micro Bonus Account

A 200% micro bonus account is a type of trading account that offers traders a bonus that is twice the amount of their deposit. This type of account can be particularly attractive to traders who want to start trading with a small amount of money but still have enough funds to make meaningful trades.

*Zero Spread Account

A Zero Spread Account is a type of forex trading account that eliminates the spread, which is the difference between the bid price and the ask price of a currency pair.

Zero spread accounts are popular among traders who value precision and speed in their trading. Since this is the lowest spread account that we offer, you can enter and exit positions at the exact prices you see on the trading platform, without having to worry about slippage or hidden costs. This can be particularly advantageous for traders who trade frequently.

*1:1000 Leverage Account

We offer our clients the option to open a 1:1000 leverage account that allows you to control a larger position size than your account balance would normally allow. Leverage refers to the ratio between your own funds and the funds that the Vault Markets lends to the trader to open positions. In a 1:1000 leverage account, for every $1 of your own funds, Vault Markets lends $1000, allowing you to control a position size that is 1000 times larger than your account balance.

For example, if a trader has $1000 in a 1:1000 leverage account, they can open a position worth $1,000,000. This can be beneficial for traders who wish to increase their potential profits, as the larger position size means that each pip movement in their favor will result in a larger profit. However, it is important to note that leverage also increases the potential risk of loss, as each pip movement against the trader will also result in a larger loss.

*Vault Micro Account

A micro account that we offer that allows traders to trade with a smaller account balance than standard.

Micro accounts are popular among beginner traders who are just starting in forex trading and wish to learn how to trade with real money without risking a large amount of capital. They are also useful for traders who wish to test their trading strategies in a live trading environment with minimal financial risk.
